SECTION 2.7. The Division may adopt one or more types of Discipline.

Article III

MEMBERSHIP

For membership in the Institute to work toward the attainment of professional excellence and to achieve recognition in the engineering profession, it is essential that members of the Institute, in addition to the membership in the Branch, must meet certain requirements. This Section outlines the requirements for membership in the Institute.

SECTION 2.8. Any Section Member shall be eligible for membership in the Branch, provided that:

(a) He is a member of the Institute, and

(b) He has completed at least three years of professional practice.

Any candidate who is not a member of the Institute may be considered for membership if he meets the requirements outlined in this Section and if he is recommended by at least three members of the Branch.

The Branch may request a copy of the applicant's résumé and other pertinent information before making a decision on membership.

The Branch may adopt one or more types of Discipline.

Article IV
