I am pleased to report that ALSITE members have been, and will be, involved in many exciting activities throughout Alabama and the Southeast. Here are some of the highlights:

Last November, several ALSITE members served as instructors at ALDOT access management training seminars. Four one-day seminars were held at various ALDOT district offices throughout the state. Over 150 ALDOT personnel received training. After the seminars, the attendees were all very enthusiastic in their support for a statewide access management policy. There were too many ALSITE members involved in these seminars to thank individually, but I want you to know your efforts are truly appreciated.

In January, the ALSITE Board voted unanimously to support the concept of enabling legislation for automated red-light enforcement in Alabama. Identical bills were introduced in the House and Senate when this year’s legislative session convened in Montgomery. Letters stating ALSITE’s support were written to the bills’ sponsors. As I write this, the Senate bill has been moved out of its committee and should be debated on the floor later this year. The House bill was assigned to a sub-committee, which means its members will need more “encouragement” if they are to move the bill out of the sub-committee. It’s not too late to contact your Senator and Representative to share your feelings about the legislation. ALSITE members Joe Robinson and Jon Howell have worked tirelessly to encourage all our legislators to support this legislation. If you need additional information or wish to help in this effort, please do not hesitate to contact Joe or Jon.

We had a great turnout at the ITE/ASCE joint meeting in Talladega on March 10. Despite being significantly outnumbered in total membership, the number of ALSITE attendees at the meeting was only slightly less than the number of ASCE attendees. It was exciting to go “behind the scenes” to the pit garages where the meeting was held. Thanks to Ken Cush and the other members of the local arrangements committee who organized a great meeting and provided the “track inspections” after the meeting.

The Georgia Section is hosting this year’s Southern District meeting in Savannah on April 10-13. The Hyatt Hotel near the river in Downtown Savannah will be the site of the meeting. You can register online at www.sdite.org. Two ALSITE members, Becky White and James Foster, are District candidates for Secretary/Treasurer and International ITE Representative, respectively. Please support Becky and James when casting your vote.

This year’s Southern District meeting marks the inaugural Temple Scholarship Challenge competition. Two Auburn University students, Andrew James and Richard Willis, will represent ALSITE as they compete for $3,000 in scholarship funds against teams from the other sections. The competition format is similar to the Traffic Bowl held each year in Gulf Shores after our annual Business Meeting. Andrew and Richard have been studying hard in preparation for the competition, so let’s show them our support in Savannah.

Summer will be here soon and so will our Annual Meeting in Gulf Shores from June 8 to June 10. This year’s meeting will be held jointly with the Deep South Section, so we are expecting a huge crowd from our neighbors in Mississippi and Louisiana. Tommy Lee reports the Beach Club suffered only minimal damage from Hurricane Ivan. The same cannot be said for the many other condos in Gulf Shores and Orange Beach, so now is the time to make your room reservations. Meeting registration forms will be mailed around late April or early May.

If I can ever be of assistance to you, please do not hesitate to contact me. It is an honor to serve as your president.

Doc Dorsey
Charles E. Alexander passed away on December 10, 2004 at his home in Montgomery, AL. He is survived by his wife of 54 years Thelma C. Alexander, One daughter: Lisa Ray; Two sons: Vince Alexander and Mark Alexander; and Five grandchildren.

Two of Charles E. Alexander’s achievements mark him as the father of the traffic engineering profession in Alabama. First, he was the initial State Traffic Engineer of the Alabama Highway Department, at a time of significant development of the highway system. Second, his untiring efforts led to the formation of what is now the Alabama Section of the Southern District of the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ALSITE).

Charles was born in Montgomery, Alabama on November 15, 1930 and graduated from Montgomery High School. He also attended Auburn University and the Traffic Institute at Northwestern University. He began his professional career with the City of Montgomery in August of 1956 and served as Assistant City Traffic Engineer. In August of 1966 he became the first State Traffic Engineer in the newly formed Traffic Engineering Section of the Alabama Highway Department. At that time, the Department’s traffic engineering functions exhibited little organization or standardization. His excellent early decisions led to sound State procedures for traffic studies and control devices. By the time of his retirement from the Department in August of 1992, his steady, sure hand was evident in the high quality of traffic control devices along Alabama’s highways.

Charles was a long-term member of the Institute of Transportation Engineers. He became an Associate Member in 1961 and was elected to the grade of Fellow in 1972. He was instrumental in the establishment of the Auburn University ITE Student Chapter in 1976. Throughout his career he encouraged engineering students across the State to enter the field of Transportation Engineering and to become active members of ITE. In 1972 at the 20th Southern Section ITE Annual Meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, Charles arranged an informal meeting of Section leaders to discuss forming a Division of ITE in Alabama. Afterwards, Charles volunteered to contact all Alabama ITE members and arrange a membership meeting in Montgomery to formerly petition the Southern Section for an Alabama Division Charter.

The organizational meeting of the Alabama Division was held at the Sahara Restaurant (well known in Montgomery as a political watering hole) on June 29, 1972. Division Bylaws were adopted in accordance with Southern Section requirements and Charles was elected the first President. But first a huge procedural issue had to be resolved. The Southern Section’s Bylaws required that a minimum of 12 ITE Members be in attendance, in person or via proxy, for formal adoption of a partitioning Division’s Bylaws. At that time only 11 ITE Members resided in Alabama. Not to be deterred, Charles reasoned that since Harold Raynor, Immediate Past President of the Southern Section, was in attendance at the meeting . . . 12 ITE members had indeed participated! Over the years the resolution of this issue has been fondly referred to as . . . Charles’ creative counting.

Charles’ peers recognized his leadership by selecting him to receive the first ALSITE Transportation Safety Award and the ALSITE Transportation Engineer of the Year Award in 1985. In 1986 the Southern District awarded him the highest honor that it could bestow upon one of its Members, the Herman J. Hoose Distinguished Service Award. By example and leadership, Charles E. Alexander made an indelible mark upon his profession, and in 1987 ALSITE established the Charles E. Alexander Transportation Engineering Scholarship to perpetuate his efforts. Since 1988 this scholarship has been awarded to 18 Civil Engineering students at universities within the State of Alabama with a total award amount of $ 42,400.
